INDIAN lenders in November had to file for bankruptcy, according to data from the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC) Act 2016, a year after the insolvency and bankruptcy code was introduced. The IBC is a law that aims to revive distressed firms through a process of resolution or liquidation. The code has been hailed as a game-changer in India’s corporate landscape, with the potential to transform the way distressed companies are handled.

The focus on distressed companies has led to a rise in the number of cases under the IBC. The law has been used to resolve cases in different sectors, including power, real estate, and telecom.

The IBC has been criticized for its long timeline and complex process, which can deter potential investors. However, it has also been praised for its potential to transform India’s corporate landscape.
