The plant-based protein supplement market growth is being driven by 3 key factors:

- Growing interest in ‘feel-good’ fitness beyond physicality
- Active search for more ‘natural’ alternatives
- Increase in understanding of nutraceuticals

The category is on a structural uptrend enabled by digital

A 2017 survey shows that 73% of Indians are deficient in protein. 50%+ of the population in the age bracket of 15-49 years is digitally connected with global trends and looking to improve their lifestyle. ~40%+ of the category sells digitally on marketplaces, D2C sites and health stores.

08 Concluding remarks
To conclude

Macros

- Inflation continues to weigh on demand in the International markets, even as India has been relatively more resilient, except for rural.
- The US Fed’s monetary tightening is causing unprecedented strength in USD – impacting cross-currency exposures.
- The impact of inflation and monetary tightening on the economies & currencies of our key markets remains monitorable going forward.

Business

- We have been able to deliver double-digit growth while balancing margins in an extremely challenging global macro environment this fiscal.
- While the tea business in India remains tepid due to category slowdown, we have been able to gain volume market share. We will continue to focus on strengthening our competitive position.
- The pricing we took in salt has helped us mitigate input cost inflation during the quarter; the forward trajectory on these costs remains monitorable. Despite the pricing, we have continued to gain market share in salt- a testament to the strength of the brand and the team's execution capabilities.
- Our “growth businesses” have sustained their strong growth trajectory and we will continue to drive them further.
- Our Out of Home businesses i.e. both NourishCo & Starbucks have delivered yet another strong quarter and we expect continued momentum.
- Tata Soulfull has seen another quarter of robust growth and we expect an upward trajectory for the RTE business after its recent relaunch.
- In the international business, input cost inflation, adverse currency movement, and lag in pricing have impacted margins; we will be looking at pricing and structural cost-saving actions to mitigate that.
- Given the inflationary environment and investments required for some of the new businesses, we will continue to manage margins at the company level while remaining focused on maintaining growth momentum.
